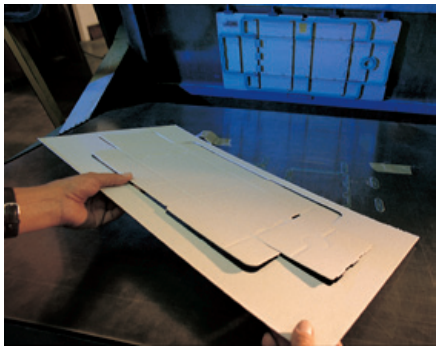
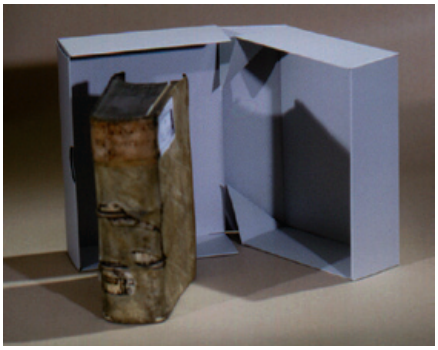
KLUG CONSERVATION

Boards and Protective Packagings

from single unit orders up to serial order productions





Description:

This has been the philosophy and main objective of KLUG-CONSERVATION since decades, while producing perfectly unique and economical solutions for the preser vation of cultural assets. We can guarantee that our products are most suitable for archival storage purposes. Starting from the paper manufacturing, to the vast assort-ment of our durable and permanent flat board qualities and our archival products such as archival boxes, binders and folders produced from them.

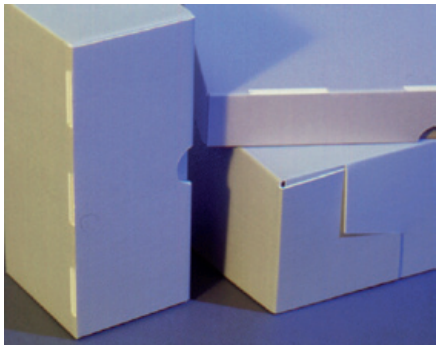
At the beginning of each individual project various customer demands often seem to be similar. However, upon closer examination, they can differ to a great extent. Thus, in order to provide you with the best suitable solution, it is most essential for us to acquire as much knowledge about your work, institution and your specific conservation or archival storage assignment.

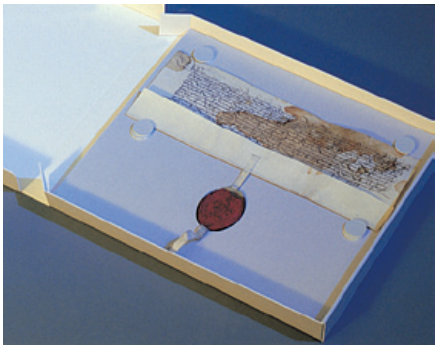
After a detailed analysis of your assignment, we begin with our advisory expertise, providing you with an economical solution to meet your individual need and fixed monetary budget. This is complemented by submitting an offer, sending samples and if necessary, also committing to an on-site visit for closer and more detailed examination of the objects concerned.

It is insignificant to us whether you have a unique valuable object, important docu-ments or just a personal memento that you wish to preserve. Every order is given our most careful attention and utmost priority.

- customer oriented
- premium quality
- high durability

Utilising our newly developed electromechanical measuring device, we carefully digitally measure the objects of your collection whilst using a computer. With our state-of-the-art, patented, CAD/CAM computer-aided boxing machinery, we can subsequently conjure you for every single object its individual storage box. In the case of similar sized objects, for example folders, we can produce from the acquired computer data from single samples up to a complete serial production.





Our flexible production capabilities enable us to manufacture not only suitable archival boxes for single unit orders or small quality orders but also for large serial production orders and for our stock.

There is practically no limit to the indefinite scope of application of KLUG products. For standard solutions we offer a wide stock range of our archival boxes, binders and folders.

From the simple and very reasonably priced expansion binder „Jurismappe" for archival documents, the dust-proof „Clamshell Box" ideal for loose and unbounded objects, to the sturdy heavy-duty „Telescope Type Storage Box" with double walled strength designed for exceptionally heavy items, a wide range of stock products are available. We ensure to deliver your order to the agreed and confirmed date. Save your cultural heritage for the future generation, not at any price but with the most suitable and economical products designed by KLUG-CONSERVATION.

The main reason why our clients profit the most from us is due to our flexible production method. We do not have fixed or rigid solutions. Your special requirement sets the dimensions of our task.

- Conservation solutions: professional, custom-made and without an expiry date.
