

Clamshell case with an integrated bookend

KS17 "Albertina Clamshell Case" with a bookend support for the archival storage of delicate incunabula objects

Description:

During the MUTEK 2005 trade show KLUG-CONSERVATION introduced a new bookend support for fragile and delicate objects, in particular for incunabula and for objects with solid backs (e.g. wooden book covers of the 15th and 16th centuries).

The uniqueness of this newly developed bookend support is that it is custom-made to fit exactly into a clamshell KS 3 or KS 17 case. If the bookend is not being used, then it can be easily stored in the interior of the case.

The object being archived in the clamshell case can be displayed by simply placing it on the enclosed bookend. Thus the necessity of placing the object horizontally on a table, which on the other hand can easily lead to damage, can be avoided. The extra cost for this simple book-end is marginal.
